NOTES

DESCRIPTION

A city of history and culture, Antibes has retained the remains of the past which made it famous: the facades of its palaces classified as historical monuments, the emblematic architecture of Fort Carré, its ramparts, etc. Numerous artists have succumbed to the natural beauty, the charms, the narrow cobbled alley and the narrow streets of Old Antibes.

Today, Antibes still lives by the rhythm of the cultural events that animate it all year long. Internationally renowned, Antibes also distinguished itself through its economic boom due to the Sophia-Antipolis business park. It is the most important European centre for the research and development of new technologies.

Its dynamism is also displayed through the Vauban Marina, one of the biggest in Europe as well as its famous Provencal market.

Hence this city of multiple faces fosters a unique ambiance and yet is less than 1h30 from ski resorts and attracts families and tourists all year round.

Entirely secure, the residence has a decidedly contemporary style. With its three storey height, its roof garden and green landscaped spaces, the residence easily finds its place in a neighbourhood where villas and high-end residences exist side by side. Thanks to the building's L shape, the apartments offer great orientation, most notably South-west, South-east and North-west. Light and airy, all the living rooms feature large bay windows that open onto balconies on the upper floors.

The apartment offers reversible air-conditioning that allows for heating and cooling of principal rooms.
