IN BRIEF

A large, authentic and pretty Périgordian farm comprising of a main house and guest house that surrounds a large courtyard with an architecturally designed and expensively renovated interior using the finest quality materials and craftsmanship the region has to offer. Exteriorly the property has changed little from the cadastre Napoléon of 1811 yet within is a remarkable combination of old stone and exposed beams restored to a level of quality rarely seen elsewhere not to mention a vast investment in a combination of the latest solar and geothermal system bringing this large property down to zero cost heating. The property also has an acre of fenced landscaped garden close to the house with an automatic entrance gate and a gated 3 car garage. In short a luxury country home of old stone in the rolling hills high above the rocky gorge of the Auvézère.
