IN BRIEF

This architecturally designed house combines the ancient and the modern to create a uniquely comfortable and stylish home. Its large living/dining area, open on two sides to a very private south-facing garden, invites you to enjoy year-round indoor/outdoor living. An open fireplace keeps you cosy in the winter, and the huge glass doors open wide for year-round use, and great for entertainment. Four bright airy bedrooms with one on the ground floor opening to a charming private terrace make this home practical and flexible and beautifully livable.

NOTES

DESCRIPTION

Fifteen minutes to central Narbonne, 30 minutes to the Mediterranean, perched high in a popular Minervois village with stunning views of the Pyrenees and Black mountains, this is a property for those who don't want to be too far from the facilities and attractions of one of the most desirable towns in the South of France, yet want to have easy access to stunning beaches, glorious bike trails and the delights of the famous Canal du Midi. And if that isn't enough it is only approximately 1 hour from Spain and 2 hours from skiing in the Pyrenees.

This four bedroom house is stylish, practical and comfortable with three bedrooms upstairs and a fourth downstairs with its own access to a charming private terrace. The large living/dining area with open fireplace opens onto a beautifully proportioned private garden ideal for a swimming pool for those who want to take full advantage of the stunning weather in this region.

The well thought out and practical kitchen on the ground floor opens onto the private terrace making a great breakfast area on fine mornings.

Direct access to the garage, storage and technical rooms from the bright hallway adds to the practicality and ease of this house.
